

The Wedding Tear

By Randal S. Doaty

There comes a special day,
When two are joined as one.
Before His throne, almighty God,
Proclaims the union done.

The work of love before you –
To keep this solemn oath.
Protect this sacred union,
A blessing to you both.

The Wedding Tear reminds you,
That tears of life shall fall,
The good and bad that life may bring,
Are tears shared most of all.

The message of the Wedding Tear
As plain as it can be,
Is telling you to share your tears
Whatever they may be.

The soul has many voices,
But one is very clear.
What comes from deep within,
Is spoken with a tear.
